

ABSTRACT

A method for pulling information from a server to a computer includes: accepting a list of items selected by the user; sending codes associated with the selected items from the device to the server; and receiving information from the server to the computer based 5 on the matching codes.

015332004715 - 20180301